BACK THE MEDIA DIVAS
February 10, 2006

Media Diva Judy and Media Photog Stephen began that same evening at the Artisan Hotel, located off of 1-15 and Sahara. FYI, this non-gaming 64-guest suite hotel is a treasure that needs to be discovered by visitors and locals alike. It was a surprise to find out that the basic outside appearance does not give a clue as to the beautiful interior found behind the entrance doors. The Artisan is decorated from floor to ceiling (literally) with exquisite reproductions of some of the world's most beautiful art. By immersing oneself within the European Renaissance motif that includes furniture, mirrors, bronze statues and paintings by masters of the art world which are eloquently displayed throughout the hotel and in every one of the suites, guests have the feeling of being transported to another era. Located within this very chic hotel that also offers a beautiful bar lounge complete with comfortable couch and chair seating and fine jazz entertainment, is an elegant, intimate dining room, where the fine fitting, whodunit mystery and dinner theatre, A Touch of Mystery presents Lethal Libations, written and directed by Jay Joseph, unfolds every Wednesday evening at 7PM. At $79.95 per person, dinner guests get to enjoy a delicious four course gourmet meal that includes glasses of various wines offered for the Artisan Hotel, Caesar salad, mushroom risotto, steak and salmon with asparagus and roasted potatoes and for dessert, a huge piece of heavenly chocolate cake. All the while, those dining also partake in an interactive murder mystery that is set in the 1930's by a spirited cast of six actors including Joseph himself who are dressed to the nines in evening wear of that period. Everyone is guaranteed a fun and satisfying evening where the dining audience figures into the scenario by mingling with and questioning the suspects for clues. Consider this a high recommendation for both Jay Joseph's Lethal Libations and its perfect venue, the Artisan Hotel.
