TOUCH OF MYSTERY AT ARTISAN HOTEL

What's a good murder without a good cast of characters? Taking place in the early 1930s, wine connoisseur Irwin Gallespi is supposed to arrive to unveil his new line of Merlot. He doesn't make it; he's been murdered. The next thing you know, someone has entered the room screaming about the dead body! The victim is left at poolside, broken glass everywhere. There's a bump on the back of his head, a trail of blood leading into the pool... and a bottle of Merlot missing.

An Inspector enters the room, informing guests (and that includes the audience) that a murder has taken place and asking for everyone's assistance. Crime Reports are handed out and each dining table of guests becomes an investigating team. The Inspector goes over the reports, introducing the suspects. Teams are asked to interrogate the suspects and are informed that the investigation will take place after the meal.

This all takes place at The Artisan Hotel, one of Las Vegas' best kept secrets, with exquisite fine art adorning the lobby, hallways, and ceilings, the perfect place for a murder every Wed. night. Not a real one, that is, but "LETHAL LIBATIONS," the newest interactive murder mystery that's all the rage. This one beats all the others hands down, complete with zany characters that make you feel part of the storyline. From the moment you enter the room, you'll be entertained by actor/singers who are trained in the art of improvisation.

Dinner is fabulous, beginning with a Parmesan cheese crusted basket (that melts in your mouth) and Caesar salad, accompanied by BV Century Cellars Chardonnay. Next, there's Mushroom Risotto, accompanied by Barefoot Merlot. The main course features Steak Lydia (with Blue cheese) & Grilled Salmon with green beans, accompanied by Camelot Pinot Noir. For desert, the Chocolate Wipeout cake with Raspberry sauce, accompanied by Salmon Creek Cabernet Sauvignon, is a perfect touch for the final course. It's $79.95 p.p., inclusive of tax, tip & the mystery play! Reservations are required. Please call 497-7936.
